Re: Participant Payment Cards

Dear Research Participant,

The company Saint Louis University uses to issue participant payment cards has changed from Greenphire to Clinical Conductor. What this means for you is that instead of receiving payment for your participation through a ClinCard, you will receive a CCPay payment card. Your new CCPay payment card will work the same way as a ClinCard, and the terms and conditions for CCPay payment cards are being provided for your information with this letter. To put your study payments onto the CCPay payment card, your personal information, such as your name, date of birth, and social security number will be shared TM r s i dential according to their terms and conditions.

Your continued participation in this research is voluntary and refusal to take part will involve no penalty to you or loss of any benefits to which you are otherwise entitled. You may withdraw from the research study now or at any time without penalty or loss of benefits to which you are otherwise entitled. All previous statements of informed consent that were contained in the original consent document are still applicable. If you would like, the information in the original consent form may be reviewed with you.

If you have any questions or concerns about this information, please speak directly to the researcher or research study doctor responsible for this research study. If you have questions, concerns, or complaints about your rights as a research participant and would like to talk to someone not on the research team, please contact the Saint Louis University Institutional Review Board (IRB) at 314 977 7744 or irb@slu.edu.

Thank you,

Saint Louis University
